A liberal spoonful of common salt, sprinkled on growing cabbage, will wholly exterminate cabbage worms. It should be applied about sundown and ten days or two weeks between times, as long as the cabbage stand on the ground. The salt prevents rot also and bleaches the cabbage to creamy white.

The cattle trade has been remarkably good of late, with some depreciation in value. The top quotations for fancy stock are $6.25, and sales of some extra prime steers are reported at $6 in Chicago, the highest price at actual sales for a month past. The domestic and export demand have both been active. Grass stock is discriminated against. Eastern shippers of milch cows have withdrawn from the market, and prices have declined $5 to $10 per head.—Lexington Gazette.

Setting a plow just right and adjusting the gears so that the backs and shoulders of the horses will never hurt, are worth a thousand fold more to the country than knowing how to pose in the parlor. A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by Theo Wesley Druggist.

Politics and Politicians

Washington is discussing the probability of the resignation of Secretary of State Hay.

The Kansas democrats have refused to join the populists in the formation of a fusion party.

Dr. A. D. James was reappointed United States Marshal for the Western district of Kentucky.

Both the Republican and National parties, of Havana have decided to accept the Platt amendment.

Gen. Sickles says he has the Republican National Committee's assurance in writing that Pension Commissioner Evans would not be reappointed.

In a card published in Buffalo Mr. Bryan says the Democratic masses will insist upon adhering to the old principles "in spite of the threats of reorganizers."

Consul Hayden, of Italy, has made a report to the State Department in which he says that the finest quality of macaroni can be made from American wheat.

It is stated that Grant Gillespie, of Missouri, one of Funston's officers, will succeed Adelbert Hay as United States Consul of Pretoria.

The Ohio Republican State Convention renominated Nash for Governor by a unanimous vote. Carl L. Nippert, of Hamilton county, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by acclamation.

The Federal party at San Juan, Porto Rico, has been reorganized, and now pledges support to Gov. Allen, having tired of the role of malcontents. This removes the one stumbling block that has retarded the island's progress.

Former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip, who has just returned from a trip abroad, says he believes Europe is getting ready to enter a trade combine against the United States that will precipitate the greatest commercial war ever known.

Senator Clay, of Georgia, says the democrats must drop all taint of populism and earn the confidence of the business interests of the country if they want to win. Mr. Clay says there is no leader in sight at present, but some great man will rise equal to the occasion.

William J. Bryan says he is for Marcus A. Hanna for the republican nomination for president. This is reciprocal. Mr. Hanna was for Mr. Bryan for the democratic nomination in 1900, and would probably be gratified to see him in the same position in 1904.

Hanna men were elected to every place on the State Executive Committee at the Ohio State Republican Convention in Columbus Tuesday. Charles Foster, former Secretary of the Treasury, was defeated for member of the State Central Committee because of his opposition to Senator Hanna, who will be permanent chairman of the convention.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce
Chesley Payne,

a candidate for Magistrate in the Second District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

MORE and more do we see it fully demonstrated every day, that the man who stands far the interest of the mass of the people, the less are the chances for his election to any office. The defeat of Mr. Clarence Wood for the Mayorship of Richmond, was done, only by some rich corporations of that town. The tide has come, when good or bad qualities seem to cut no figure. If one seeks an office, the first thing he must do, is to announce himself in favor of the money powers and against any and every thing that would favor the poor working people, and then his election is almost assured.

THAT great daily, the Courier Journal, seems to have taken up the fight in earnest for good roads. With this great Metropolitan Journal in the lead we may hope to see some much needed legislation on this most important subject. She could not devote her columns to a better subject nor could she discuss a question of greater interest to the people. Bad roads in Kentucky is the great barrier between the common people and prosperity; between the farmer and the market; between the day laborer and his daily food.

A resolution has been introduced in the Alabama Constitutional Convention providing for the impeachment and suspension of a sheriff, who, through negligence or cowardice, allows a prisoner to be injured or killed by a mob. If a similar law to this, was upon the statute books of every State in the Union, more care would be taken to protect prisoners and fewer mobs would exist. The law should say what shall be done, and not a set of disguised ruffians.

MRS. GERTRUDE SANDERS, postmaster at New Castle, who has been making such a noble fight to retain the office, although assailed and persecuted by her political enemies, stands a good show of winning her point. Whether she wins or loses, as the case may be, she deserves much praise for her splendid efforts. To our mind, if there be any offices in the land, that the women should fill, the post-offices are the ones.

THE total amount of taxes to be collected in Kentucky this year by the county sheriffs is $2,796,360.32, on an assessment of $588,707.480, the equalized value of taxable property in the State. The increase in assessments this year amounts to $9,623,946. The county of Jefferson, has the greatest increase, the wealth of that county being equal to one fourth of the entire state.

THE court of appeals has refused to grant the petition of Caleb Powers' attorneys for a modification of its opinion reversing the verdict of the Scott circuit court. What will be the next made? The only thing left to do is try for a pardon.

WE often hear of people getting too big for their shoes, and such has proven to be the case with Collector Sapp, of Louisville, and in consequence of that fact, the gentleman, if not before, will be asked to take a back seat, when the fall campaign is over.

ONE W. S. Taylor wants the democrats to nominate Justice Harlin, for President. When Taylor comes back to Kentucky, they will do that.

LEVEL GREEN

Wheat harvest is about over. The "fly" and "black rust" injured it some. The latter was playing such havoc with one man's wheat that he cut it on Sunday, in order to save it.

Some thief stole Dr. Price's plows and hoes. Now this was very wrong, for the Dr. was not him who would not use them. A man—a thing in the shape of man—who will thus violate the laws of God and man, disregarding the rights of the one and trampling the commands of the other under his feet, deserves the severest punishment. No one need to steal in this country.

Uncle Bill, my eldest brother, tho' old and well stricken with cares, and bent under many burdens, like Abraham, added, by the help of his wife, another to his already large family—a girl. The old fellow seems 20 years younger. Well, well, my strange things will take place under McKinley-prosperity-Hanner-Administration-Regime; our lambs have dropped to 3c, and the old ones wont sell at all. I declare I am ashamed to look an honest sheep in the face and talk of its present prices. Now my republican friends, you will be willing to admit that "supply and demand" does regulate prices wont you, and not polly tix.

I have cut wheat and hoed corn this week, but did not make as big a hand as I used to—men will change as the days go by. Most of the Possum Holler farmers are well up with their work notwithstanding the heavy rains.

Garden truck is awful late and slow about comin into use. Taters scarce and too small to use but ingerns, musturd and lettis plentiful, but we are critters often desirous of change.

Well Ed, I dreamed tother night that the republican primary was over, and here iz the ticket: Jones Fish, Judge; L. W. Bethurum, County Attorney; M. C. Miller, County Clerk; Geo. Griffin, Sheriff; John W. Wesley Kirby, Assessor; W. a. b. c. Davis, Sup. of Schools. I forgot the name of the jailer, but he lives on the east side of the county. I awoke reflected a moment, went to sleep and dreamed yet another dream. This time I witnessed an awful-terrible-political-battle, but in this it wern't like tother,—just the repubs against each other—but every political tribe and tongue was mixed up in it and men were cas'in their votes for the common good, and not as the scribes and publicans ust to do, and it cum to pass when the smoke ov battle had cleared off and settled down many ov those who went in with colors flying, inscribed, "win or bust," had busted and there they lay political corpses. I will give their names hereafter, if desired.

Clark, who was buried in the Livingston cemetery some months since. C. Webb, of Pittsburg.

Dr. Samuel E. Woody has received a report of a case of a child who, being swathed in cotton, linseed oil and bismuth subnitrate, and wrapped in a quilt as a treatment for superficial burns, perished by the spontaneous combustion of the dressing.

UNNECESSARY LOSS OF TIME.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winter-set, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by Theo Wesley Druggist.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH.

Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infalible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

HIS LIFE SAVED

BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

"I am sure that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at one time saved my life," says A. E. Lafalette, of Gregory Landing Clark county, Missouri. "I was in such bad shape that the doctors said I could not live. When I was at the lowest ebb, one of my neighbors brought in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I took it and got instant relief. I soon got up and around. That was nine years ago and I am still in good health. Since then that medicine has always been in my house and always will be. It is the best on earth." For sale by Theo Wesley Druggist.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

"Of a gasoline stove burned a lady here frightfully," writes N. E. Palmer, of Kirkman, Ia. ANOTHER drop came, when the Seventh National Bank, of New York, showed up short to the amount 644,108.95.

The wife of a farmer in Cowley county, Kan., is burned and dying as a result of the refusal of her husband to deposit $5,000 in a place named by unknown blackmailers.

SERMON BY REV. A. J. PIKE.

"Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth."

The definition of death which science has given us is this:

"A falling out of correspondence with environment."

When, for example, a man loses the sight of his eyes, his correspondence with the environment is curtailed. His life is limited in an important direction; he is less living than he was before. If, in addition, he lose the sense of touch and hearing, his correspondences are still further limited; and is therefore still further dead.

And when all possible correspondences have ceased, and when the nerves decline to respond to any stimulus, when the lungs close their gates against the air, when the heart refuses to correspond with the blood, by so much as another beat, then we say the corpse is wholly and forever dead.

The soul, in like manner, which has no correspondence with the spiritual environment is spiritually dead.

It may be that it never possessed the spiritual eye or the spiritual ear, or a heart which throbbed in response to the love of God. If so, having never lived, it cannot be said to have died. But not to have these correspondences is to be in the state of death. To the spiritual world, to the Divine environment, it is dead—as a stone which has never lived; is dead to the environment of the organic world.

"Now when the natural man becomes the spiritual man, the great change is described by Christ as a passing from death unto life. But before this change occurred, the practical difficulty was this; how to get into correspondence with the new environment. But no sooner is this correspondence established than the problem is reversed.

The question now is, how to get out of correspondence with the old environment?

The moment the new life is begun there comes a genuine anxiety to break loose with the old. For the former environment has now become embarrassing. And the old refuses to be dismissed from consciousness. It competes with the new environment for a share of the correspondences. And in a hundred ways the former traditions, the memories and passions of the past; the fixed associations and habits of the earlier life, now complicate the new relation.

The complexed and bewildered soul, in fact, finds itself in correspondence with two environments, each with urgent, but yet incompatible claims, it is a dead soul living in a double world, a world whose inhabitants are deadly enemies, and engaged in perpetual civil war.

The position of things are perplexing. It is clear that no man can attempt to live both lives.

To walk both in the flesh and in the spirit is morally impossible.

"No man," as Christ so often emphasized, "can serve two masters." And yet, as a matter of fact, here is the new born soul, or (being) in communication with both environments? With sin and purity; light and darkness, time and eternity, God and the Devil, confused and undecided soul is now in correspondence.

What is to be done in such an emergency? How can the new life deliver itself from the still persistent past?

A ready solution of this difficulty would be to die. Were one to die organically; to die and "go to heaven," all correspondence with the lower environment would be arrested at a stroke. For physical death of course simply means the final stoppage of all natural correspondences with this sinful world.

But this alternative, fortunately or unfortunately is not open to us. The detention here of body and soul for a given period is determined for us, and we must accept the situation. We must look then for a further alternative.

Actual death being denied us, we must ask ourselves if there is nothing else resembling it—no artificial relations, no imitation or semblance of death which would serve our purpose. In other words, if we cannot yet die absolutely, surely the next best thing will be to find a temporary substitute.

If we cannot die altogether, in short, the most we can do is to die as much as we can. Now let us see how this is to be accomplished. To die to any environment is to withdraw correspondence with it, to cut ourselves off, so far as possible from all communication with it. So the solution of the problem will simply be this; for the spiritual life to reverse continually the processes of the natural life.

The Spiritual man having passed from Death unto Life, the natural man must next proceed to pass from life unto death. Having opened the new set of correspondence, he must deliberately close up the old. As we said once before, Regeneration in short must be accomplished by degeneration. Now we find this doctrine, everywhere described and recommended by the founders of our holy religion. In the Regenerated man we find two natures, the natural man, and the Spiritual man.

And God tells us we can not leave them both. We are commanded to die to sin, and to the world and be alive unto God. But as I said before, we cannot die organically and must remain here for a given time, we must make an adequate approach to it by "reckoning ourselves dead."

Seeing that, until this organic life is complete we cannot die physically, we must in the meantime die morally; in the language of Paul, reckoning ourselves morally dead to that environment, which, by competing for his correspondences, has now become an obstacle to our Spiritual life. The methods by which the spiritual man is to withdraw himself from the old environment—or from that part of it which will directly hinder the Spiritual life—are three in number: First, suicide; second, mortification; third, limitation.

But we are discussing mortification. The Apostle Paul says, "If ye through the spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live," and "mortify therefore your members which are upon earth." The word mortify, here is literally, to make to die. But of course the Apostle means to die to sin. Now in contrast with suicide, mortification implies a gradual rather than a sudden process.

The contexts in which these passages occurs will make this meaning so clear, and are otherwise so instructive, that we will quote them, from the new version, at length.

"They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the spirit the things of the spirit."

For the mind of the flesh is death; but the mind of the spirit is life and peace; because the mind of the flesh is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither can it be; and they that are in the flesh cannot please God.

But ye are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, if so be that the spirit of God dwell in you. But is any man hath not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His.

And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the spirit is life because of righteousness. But if the spirit of Him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwelleth in you, He that raised up Christ Jesus from the dead shall quicken also, your mortal bodies through His spirit that dwelleth in You. So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh; for if ye live after the flesh ye must die; but if by the spirit ye mortify the doings (margin: of the body, ye shall live.)"

And again, "if then ye were raised together with Christ; seek the things that are above, where Christ is seated on the right hand of God. Set your mind on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth. For ye died, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall be manifested, then shall ye also, with Him be manifested in Glory. Mortify therefore your members, which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire and covetousness, the which is idolatry; for which things, sake cometh the wrath of God upon the sons of disobedience; in the which ye also walked aforetime, when ye lived in these things."

But now put ye also away all these; anger, wrath, malice, railings, shameful speaking out of your mouth; lie not one to another; seeing that ye put off the old man with his doings, and have put on the new man, which is being renewed unto knowledge after the image of Him that created him.

Now then, from the nature of the case as herein stated, it is evident that no sudden process could entirely transform a man from the old into the new relation. To break altogether, and at every point, with the old environment, is a simple impossibility.

So long as the regenerate man is kept in this world, he will find the old environment at many points a severe temptation.

Power over many of our temptations, can only be won by degrees. I do not care how anxious we may be to be free from all. The difficulty in many of these cases will arise from the peculiar feature of the temptation, the difference between a sin of drunkenness, and, let us say, a sin of temper, is that in the former case the victim who would reform has mainly to deal with the environment, but the latter with self. The drunkard's temptation is a known and defined thing. His safety lies in avoiding some external and material substance, and so long as he can keep himself clear of the external relation, the man is safe. The illtempered person, on the other hand, can make very little of his environment. What he has to deal with, then mainly is the correspondence, the tempter itself. And that we all know, involves a long and humiliating discipline.

The mortification of a member, again, is based on the law of Degeneration. The useless member here is not cut off, but simply relieved as much as possible of all exercise. This encourages the gradual decay of the parts, and as it is more and more neglected it ceases to be a channel for life at all. So we are commanded to keep in subjection, and to mortify everything about us that is not in harmony with Christ. The well defined spiritual life is not only the highest life, but it is also the most easily lived. The whole cross is more easily carried than the half. It is the man who tries to make the best of both worlds, who makes nothing of either. And he who seeks to serve two masters, misses the benediction of both.

But he, who has taken his stand; who has drawn a boundary line, sharp and deep about his religious life, who has marked off all beyond as forever forbidden ground to him, finds the yoke easy and the burden light. For this forbidden environment comes to be as if it were not. His faculties falling out of correspondence, gradually lose their sensibilities, and releases him for the sacred communion of a higher life. So even here to die is gain.
